The Earth is currently experiencing its sixth major animal extinction event. One out of four of the world's mammals and over 40 percent of amphibians are threatened with extinction due to human activity, including habitat destruction, overexploitation, climate change, and pollution, as well as human overpopulation. Without the Endangered Species Act, over 2,000 animal and plant species could face extinction. Many—such as the Steller sea lion, grizzly bear, and bald eagle—are on the road to recovery because of the protections provided by this law.

Everyday actions can make a difference. Learn how you can help protect endangered species and the Endangered Species Act at www.awionline.org/endangeredspecies.
